

Helena Sullivan has practiced law at Barnes, Richardson & Colburn, LLP since 2003. Helena is both a barrister and solicitor in Alberta, and an attorney in New York, having earned law degrees at the University of Alberta, and New York University.

Helena has expertise in both the representation of importers and the navigation of United States export laws. Among other issues, Helena has extensive experience assisting importers with OFAC sanctions issues, ITAR and EAR controls, and U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service issues (including those specific to the import of musical instruments).

She also represents Canadian importers and U.S. companies exporting to Canada in front of Canada Border Services Agency and other Canadian government agencies. Helena is also an active member of several trade associations and has authored a number of articles related to trade topics. See Helena's full biography here. We are very pleased to welcome Helena to the partnership.

hsullivan@barnesrichardson.com

(212) 725-0200

Download V-card

Barnes/Richardson
Global Trade Law